

One MIG Base Is Vacant

Was One Of Two Bases Hit By US Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the two North Vietnamese MIG bases struck by U.S. war planes was empty of Communist jets, Pentagon sources said today.

Only four MIGs were on the other base bombed by American jets Monday, the sources said.

Asked about this, a Defense Department spokesman said "we won't know for sure" how many Communist jet fighters were on the Kep and the Hoa Lac bases near Hanoi when they were bombed.

The pilots "said they were too busy with their missions to count," the spokesman said. Because of poor weather, he said, there has been no satisfactory bomb damage assessment by reconnaissance planes.

The spokesman acknowledged that the Kep field — which sources said was bare of planes — has been undergoing extension of its runways. But he insisted that despite the construction work, the base 37 miles northeast of Hanoi is operational.

Another department spokesman disputed the report that only four MIGs were caught on the ground at Hoa Lac, 19 miles west of Hanoi. He said he had information indicating there might have been a dozen planes there.

In announcing the raids early this week, an official spokesman in Saigon said that Kep was known to have been the base for 19 or 20 MIGs while Hoa Lac was believed to have been the home of up to nine planes. This Hoa Lac estimate has been raised to about 15.

Air Force officers in Vietnam long have argued for striking the MIG bases in the North, contending the best way to destroy the enemy air force is while it is ground-bound, rather than taking on the MIGs in the air.

Women Honored For Outstanding Work

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Three Missouri women were honored Tuesday night as outstanding in business.

They are Mrs. Marguerite Kuna of Kansas City; Dr. Souther Smith, Springfield, physician and Mrs. Thelma P. Goodwin of Jefferson City.

Mrs. Kuna is assistant employment manager with Hallmark Cards. Mrs. Goodwin is editor of the publications department for the Missouri secretary of state.

The recognition was given at the honors dinner of Phi Chi Theta, professional business women's sorority.

Of Crime Responsibility

Stalin's Daughter Accuses Red Bosses

NEW YORK (AP) — Svetlana Alliluyeva has accused some of the present Soviet leaders of sharing responsibility for killings and other crimes which occurred during the regime of her father, Joseph Stalin.

"I think that many other people who still are in our Central Committee and Politburo should be responsible for the same things for which he (Stalin) alone was accused," she told a news conference Wednesday.

During the hour-long session she also described her disillusionment with communism, her conversion to Christianity and her decision to seek haven in the United States to find self-expression in writing.

More than 400 newsmen packed the conference room at the Plaza Hotel to hear Mrs. Alliluyeva — poised throughout — answer questions drawn at random from written queries submitted in advance. They applauded when it was over.

She drew chuckles with her reply when asked if she would apply for American citizenship: "Before the marriage there should be love. So if I should love this country and this country will love me then the mar-

NOT SO BAD, REALLY—The gentleman on the right seems to be despondently standing by, watching a huge tongue of flame devour what used to be a small house between Ohio and Lamine on 14th yesterday. Actually, the fire was purposely set after the house was torn down. City firemen permitted the burning. They made an exception in this case because there was nothing near the fire that could have been damaged by it. Firemen nevertheless stood by until the flames burned themselves down. Numerous phone calls were received about a huge column of smoke in the area, but it was really nothing at all. (Democrat-Capitol photo)

Hold Out On Hill

Stubborn VC Force Attacked By Planes

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes and artillery pounded a stubborn North Vietnamese force holding a hill in the northwest corner of South Vietnam today after 37 Marines were killed and 84 wounded in an unsuccessful, three-day attempt to take the hill.

In the air war against North Vietnam, the U.S. command announced four American planes were shot down in Wednesday's raids against the Hanoi and Haiphong areas. This raised announced losses this week to 10 U.S. planes in three days of intensified raids on the North Vietnamese heartland. The total losses announced for the air war against North Vietnam are now 520.

The Weather

Generally fair through Friday with a gradual warming trend. Lows tonight upper 30s to lower 40s. Highs Friday middle to upper 60s. Precipitation probabilities 10 per cent Friday.

The temperature Thursday was 33 at 7 a.m. and 58 at noon. Low Wednesday night was 33.

The temperature one year ago today was high 71, low 53; two years ago, high 51, low 38; three years ago, high 72, low 55.

Lake of Ozark stage: 56.4 feet; 3.6 below full reservoir; no change.

The U.S. command said one pilot shot down Wednesday was rescued by helicopter while four others were missing. Hanoi Radio had claimed 11 American planes were downed Wednesday.

Although spokesmen in Saigon said the Marines had "closed out" their attempt to take Hill 861 three miles northwest of Khe Sanh, Associated Press photographer Richard Merron reported from Khe Sanh that bombs and artillery were raining on the Communists while Marine officers made plans for another assault.

Merron also reported 37 Marines killed and 84 wounded, while headquarters in Saigon said 22 Leathernecks were killed and 43 wounded.

A spokesman in Saigon said the Marines went looking for an estimated North Vietnamese company in Quang Tri Province, bordering the frontier with Laos, and "they found them" Tuesday. The North Vietnamese were well entrenched in bunkers and caves and threw back repeated Marine attempts to throw them off the hill.

There was no estimate of enemy casualties.

In other ground action, a company from the U.S. 4th Infantry Division ran into an enemy platoon late Wednesday and reported killing 15 in two hours of fighting in the central highlands area of Pleiku Province.

US Probes Attack On British Ship

LONDON (AP) — The United States is urgently investigating how American aircraft came to attack a British ship in Haiphong Tuesday, a foreign office spokesman said today.

He added that the probe by the State Department is taking place at Britain's request.

The 2,739-ton cargo vessel Dartford was riddled with bullets fired by a U.S. Air Force jet, according to press reports quoting a North Vietnamese news agency.

Both sides of the Dartford carried large paintings of the British flag and the vessel also flew a large flag.

A spokesman for the Peninsular Shipping Co., in Hong Kong, owners of the vessel, said six Chinese crewmen were injured. Four of them were in a Haiphong hospital and two were released after treatment, he added. He declined to say who had chartered the vessel, or what cargo she was carrying.

Authorities here have announced Britain's consul-general in Hanoi can only interview the crew with the permission of North Vietnamese authorities. Ships trade in North Vietnamese waters at their own risk and pay appropriately high insurance and wage rates.

Death Takes Prominent Sedalian

Maj. General (Ret.) John C. (Jack) McLaughlin, 1509 West Fourth, president of McLaughlin's Funeral Chapel and Furniture Store, died at noon Thursday at the Boone County Hospital, Columbia, where he was taken at 7:30 a.m. Thursday after becoming ill at his home.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

The body is at McLaughlin's Funeral Chapel.

Will 'Try' Johnson For War Crimes

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Preliminary sessions opened today at the so-called "International War Crimes Tribunal" initiated by philosopher Lord Bertrand Russell to "try" President Johnson and other U.S. leaders concerned with policy in Vietnam.

While the Socialist government says it is unable to prevent the unofficial tribunal from meeting, authorities warned that it will be stopped if Johnson is defamed or the proceedings cause disturbances. Such actions would violate Swedish law.

Most Swedish newspapers are hostile to the tribunal, calling it a propaganda show, and local backers appeared uncomfortable about anti-American statements already issued.

The government and the three non-Socialist opposition parties, after a meeting of the Parliament's Joint Foreign Affairs Committee, issued a statement regretting that the "tribunal" was going ahead but conceding government hands were tied by Sweden's liberal laws.

Old Age Pay Checks Decrease

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Average old age assistance payments decreased in March, while two other major assistance programs increased, the Department of Public Health and Welfare reported today.

The total number of persons receiving old age payments was 95,985, a decrease of 155 from February's figure.

The average monthly payment was $70.15, an increase of six cents. A total of $6,739,144.89 was disbursed to old age recipients.

There were 26,307 families receiving aid to dependent children payments, an increase of 282 families. Payments increased $25,393 in March for a total of $2,725,897. The average payment per family was $103.62, a decrease of 15 cents.

Grants to the permanently and totally disabled reached $1,186,415, representing an average payment of $72.75 to 16,307 persons. The department said 87 persons were added to the rolls.

General's Mission Is Under Fire

Republicans Take Aim To Counter Westmoreland Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland's mission home — defended by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey — came under Republican attack today as a move to silence Vietnam war critics.

Humphrey told a news conference Wednesday night that no one wants to muzzle "responsible" criticism of Johnson administration policies. He said Westmoreland had given an "excellent assessment" of the Vietnam situation in a speech at an Associated Press meeting in New York Monday.

When the general speaks to Congress Friday, Humphrey predicted, he will be "well received" and will be "highly informative and helpful to the American people."

But Westmoreland's charge in the New York speech that "unpatriotic acts" of protesters at home are giving comfort to Hanoi brought criticism from Republicans who had been silent when Democratic critics complained bitterly about it in the Senate Tuesday.

While they did not go as far as Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., who said the administration was using "political blackmail" to silence its critics, Sens. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., and Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., protested that the patriotism of those who differ on policy is being questioned.

Surprise For Turnpike's Supporters

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Rep. Bill Fribley, R-Crestline, said today he believes supporters of an eastern Kansas turnpike will be pleasantly surprised at the bids when the Kansas Turnpike Authority offers a $120 million bond issue for sale.

Fribley said he also thinks there will be no great problem financing a feasibility study of an additional proposed turnpike in the Kansas City area.

Earlier this week a Wichita bond dealer, Sam Ranson, said he doubted the proposed bond issue can be sold at an interest rate that would leave the proposed Kansas City, Kan.-Galena turnpike feasible.

A feasibility study completed earlier this year found construction of the route along the eastern border of the state to be feasible if the bonds were backed by a pledge of state highway funds.

The legislature authorized the Kansas Turnpike Authority to issue up to $120 million in bonds but declined to back them with highway funds.

Ranson said he thinks the absence of the state pledge will mean an interest rate so high it will make the project unfeasible.

Fribley said he is not pessimistic. "We won't know until the bonds are put up for bid," said Fribley.

Group Recommends Censure For Dodd

Changes Included

Minimum Wage Bill Advances

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House today advanced a minimum wage bill but it was substantially changed in the course of two hours' debate.

Originally, it called for a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour.

Sponsors accepted a change, however, that would make the bill effective next Jan. 1 at the rate of $1 an hour. Jan. 1, 1969, the rate would rise to $1.15 and Jan. 1, 1970 it would go to $1.25.

The bill initially exempted government workers but that exemption was eliminated by amendment.

As approved the bill still exempted agricultural workers, domestic help and those working for educational, religious or charitable groups or institutions.

By amendment the bill also was changed to put a two-year limit on wage complaints and to bar the industrial commissioner from collecting wages for a complaining worker.

Minimum wage laws have been defeated regularly in Missouri's Legislature in recent years. This one still faces the Senate.

The Senate, meanwhile, advanced a bill to give the Boone-Callaway County judicial circuit a second judge. Sen. A. Baise Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, said the work load of the two-county circuit is too great for one judge to handle. The vote was 27-0.

Wednesday the House advanced on a close vote a bill to broaden the state's control over milk prices.

Sponsors said it would assure the producer of a fair profit on his work. They said 17 states have similar laws.

Opponents said it was merely a price increase bill and would be detrimental to the Missourians who don't have a lobby in the legislature—the consumers. They said 15 states have abandoned such control acts.

It is a House bill and still faces a long road toward possible enactment—final passage in the House and the complete course of obstacles presented by Senate committee and Senate debate.

The House Constitutional Amendments Committee heard arguments for and against lowering the minimum voting age from 21 to 18—a regular proposal before the legislature.

Worthless Goods With Big Price

$140,000 Paid For Useless Items From Vietnamese

WASHINGTON (AP) — Testimony at a Senate hearing indicates a Vietnamese importer got $140,000 from the U.S. government for worthless goods.

The $140,000 was the importer's share of $250,000 in Agency for International Development money to finance the importing of an epsom salts solution battery by its manufacturer as a battery preservative.

"Seems to me a 56 per cent commission is pretty high," said Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., of the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations at Wednesday's hearing into the matter.

He called it a "kickback." His subcommittee hearings on alleged fraud and dishonesty in the AID commodity import program in Vietnam continue today.

The National Bureau of Standards says the battery additive is "without merit."

It was developed by Thomas Edison Higgins of Treasure Island, Fla., and shipped by him to Higgins International in Saigon, a firm set up by Vietnamese importers.

Subcommittee investigators say all but 150 of the 240,000 packets of Higgins' battery additive were left in a Saigon warehouse.

Dishonor, Disrepute Are Feared

Formal Proposal Of Censure Is Final Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Ethics Committee recommended today that Sen. Thomas J. Dodd be censured for conduct it said "is contrary to accepted morals, derogates the public trust expected of a senator, and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

The bipartisan committee's report said it unanimously directed Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., to propose Senate adoption of the resolution of censure.

Stennis, in formally presenting the report, asked that the Senate consider it within "a reasonable time."

No date was fixed, and Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he thinks Dodd should be allowed a reasonable time to study the report before the Senate is asked to vote on it.

The proposed resolution, summing up the committee's findings in its investigation of misconduct charges against the 59-year-old Connecticut Democrat, said that Dodd had obtained and used for his personal benefit funds obtained from the public through political testimonials.

It also said that he had requested and accepted reimbursements for expenses from both the Senate and private organizations for the same travel.

The committee held hearings last month on Dodd's financial affairs, Dodd, the final witness, said "my conscience is clear." "I don't believe any man is going to look me in the eye and say I've done anything wrong," the 59-year-old senator said.

Dodd said more than $170,000 raised at testimonial affairs for him between 1961 and 1965 represented personal gifts he could use as he saw fit.

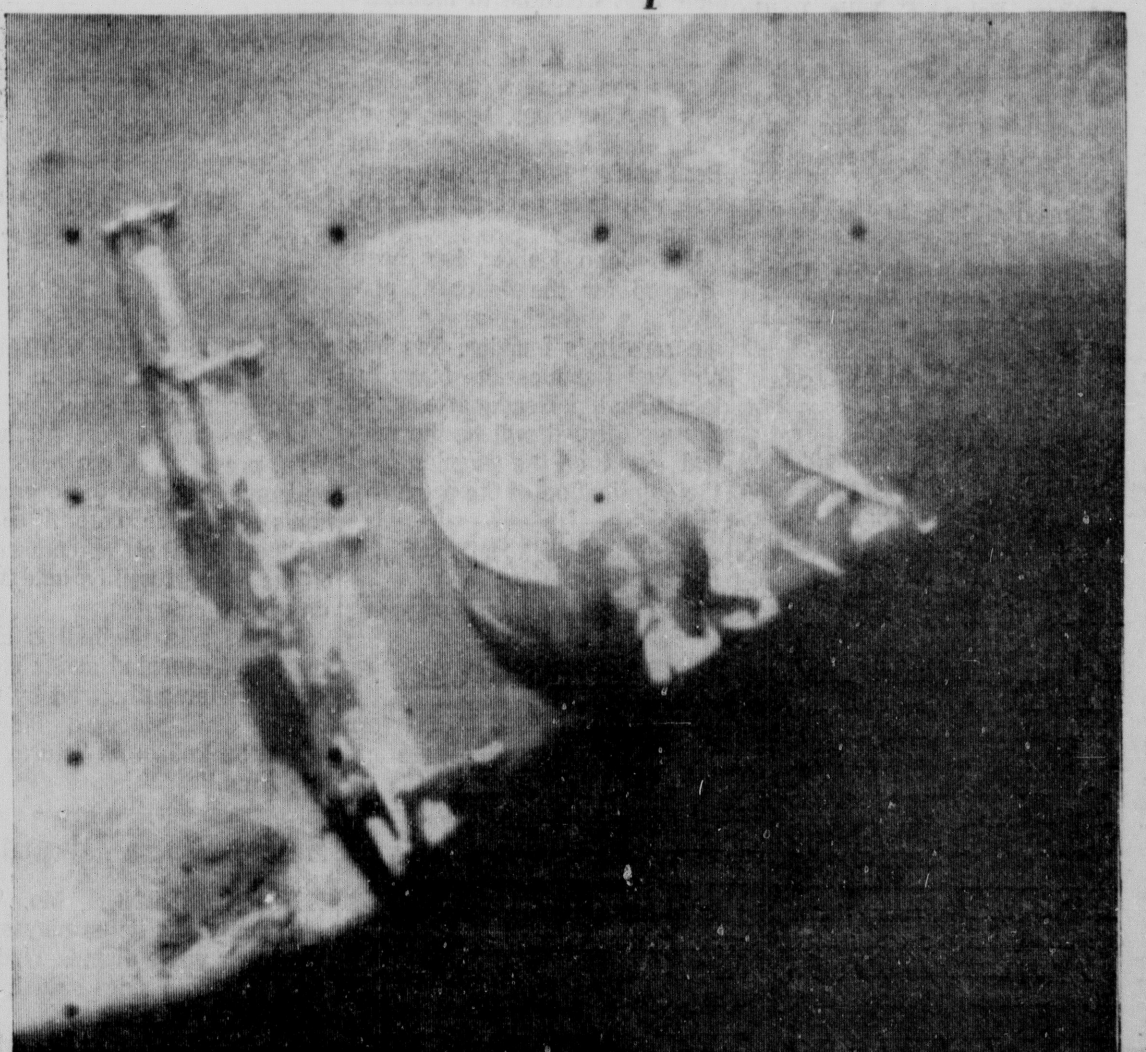

And he blamed instances in which he collected for travel both from the Senate and private sources on what he termed the sloppy bookkeeping of a former employee.

At the committee's first round of hearings last summer, Dodd denied doing anything improper on behalf of Klein.

US Marines Hurting For Helicopters

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP) — The U.S. Marines in Vietnam are hurting for helicopters. The Army has plenty.

The shortage can be seen in many ways: The body of a dead Marine rode in a tank near the demilitarized zone for two days before it was removed.

The assembly of a two-company relief force during an intense fight at Binh Son was delayed for at least three hours.

Ammunition for a battalion probe north of Route 9 arrived late, pushing back the jump-off time, two hours.

Where a U.S. Army battalion, leaves the field by helicopter, Marine forces often have to march.

On some occasions Marine units have found themselves short of water and rations in the field.

It cannot be said that a Leatherneck has starved to death, died of thirst or exhaustion, or that Marine wounded have been ignored, but the helicopter shortage has made the Marine's job a little bit tougher.

The U.S. Army in Vietnam has about 2,000 helicopters, including the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division's 432.

Support groups parcel out "Hueys" or "Slicks," and CH47 Chinooks for supply and frequent 60- and 70-chopper assaults in such operations as Junction City and Cedar Falls.

An Army battalion commander routinely has a Huey at his disposal to coordinate his companies from the air and get a better view. A Marine colonel considers this a luxury.

While the Army supports allied troops as well, there never appears to be any lack of choppers for its own 60 battalions.

It is not exceptional to see an Army unit provided in the field each night with heavy weapons, sand bags, hot food and sometimes a shower. Such service is virtually unknown to a Marine.

The Leathernecks have about 220 helicopters, including 60 Hueys, mostly gunships; 70 workhorse UH34s, some of them 10 years old; about 80 CH46's, a smaller and some say, inferior version of the Chinook, and six new, heavy CH53s. These choppers support 18 Marine battalions.

The Army has available one helicopter for every 15 men in the field, the Marines one for every 65.

Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, commander of Marines in Vietnam, says he would like more helicopters. The question is complicated by military and congressional appropriations and overall military planning.

The Marines are allowed about 1,000 aircraft. Marine planners must allot, from this total their tactical jets, such as the F4 Phantom, A6 Intruder, A4 Skyhawk and F8 Intruder; as well as C130 transports, reconnaissance and liaison aircraft.

One of the Marine planners who arrived at the present number of helicopters said, "We have to plan for the Marine Corps for war everywhere, anytime, in any situation, not just Vietnam."

The Air Force and Army face simpler choices. The Air Force has only a few liaison and rescue choppers, and the Army has only a few "fixed wing" planes and is free to concentrate on. However, the Army privately choppers.

However, the Army privately envies the Marines when it comes to close support by jets, the Marines have their own jet pilots supporting Leathernecks on the ground, while the Army relies on the Air Force.

Seek Appropriation For Third Building

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—The Agricultural Hall of Fame and National Center will seek a $3 million appropriation from Congress for a third building.

Leo Roethe of Fort Atkinson, Wis., president of the memorial and museum, told the organization's executive committee on Wednesday that a conference on the request will be held Monday in Washington.

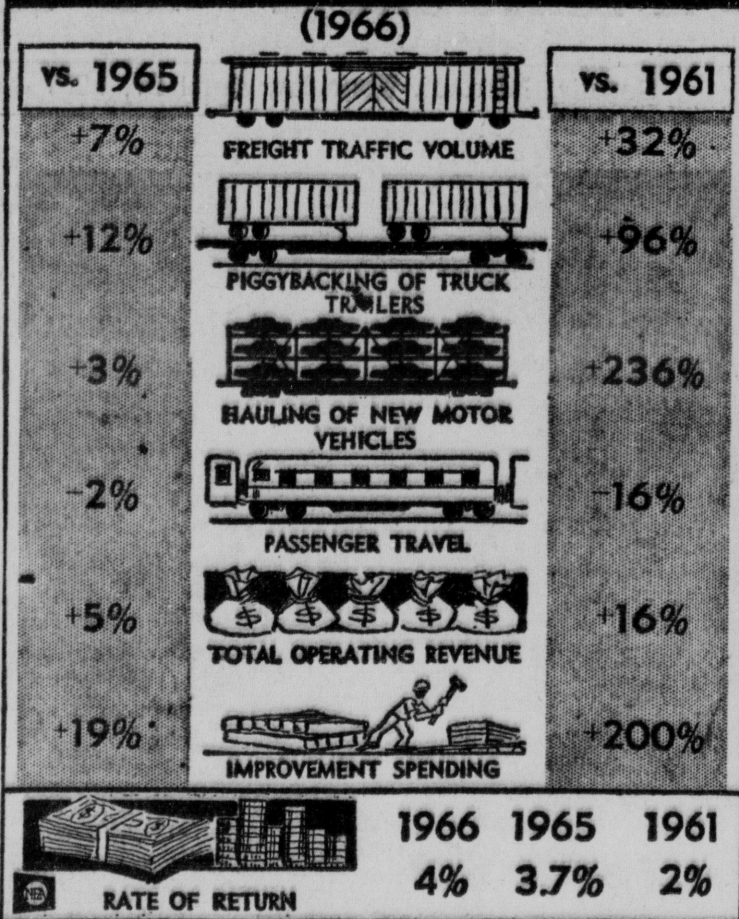

Roethe said the hall is being built and operated under a federal charter authorized by Congress. The proposed building would be known as "Rural Living Area."

Settle Wage Dispute

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—The city and its employees settled their wage dispute Wednesday, and both sides said it was a misunderstanding.

The City Council passed an ordinance providing a 5 per cent pay boost for all employees and another 5 to 10 per cent hike on anniversary dates. The second increase is on a sliding scale based on seniority.

RAILROAD COMEBACK

The nation's long-ailing railroads have had good news to report in most operational categories during recent years. Business has gained everywhere except in passenger travel, which, continuing the postwar downturn, showed a drop of 2 per cent last year from 1965 despite the brief spurt resulting from last summer's airline strikes.

Police Reports

Mrs. Harry Simmons, 1202 East 14th, reported to the police Wednesday that someone had broken into her home and had taken items which value totaled $340.95. Mrs. Simmons stated that her husband had passed away last week and that she had been staying with relatives since that time. She said that when she returned to her home she found that the back door had been pryed open to gain entrance to her home. Some of the items taken were an antique clock, two other clocks, a radio, dishes, and a rug. Sedalia police are investigating.

C. H. Joy reported to police Wednesday that a service rear mount blade was taken sometime over the weekend from his place of business at 2205 South Limit. The value of the blade was placed at $85.

Two Sedalia women and a Stevenson, Ala. man were turned over to Sheriff Lawrence M. Pfifer of Benton County, Tuesday evening, on charges of petit larceny. They were identified as Patsy Reedy, 25, 806 West Sixth; Hazel Darlene Wright, 40, 806 West Sixth; and Arthur Owen, 29, Stevenson, Ala. The three were apprehended by Assistant Chief of Police Charles Knapp and Sgt. John McDonald, of the Sedalia Police Department, and Deputy Jack Courts of the Pettis County Sheriff's office.

The women were released on $500 bond each, Wednesday. Owen is still being held in the Benton County jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

The Clarksburg Consolidated School was broken into sometime Wednesday night, and an undetermined amount of cash taken from teachers' desks. Thieves gained entrance by prying open a door.

Hall Of Fame Remodels History

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Fascinating bits of history frequently resist efforts to remodel it into acceptable dramatic fare and Wednesday night's opulent, handsome "Soldier in Love" on NBC was a prime example of this stubbornness.

The 90-minute teleplay was an attempt to dramatize the relationship of England's Queen Anne with John Churchill, whom she made Duke of Marlborough, and his wife Sarah.

The problem, typical of dramas pegged on reality, was the necessity of acquainting the viewer with the backgrounds and characters behind the ornate costumes, elaborate wigs and formal speech of the period, in this case 17th century.

We were first introduced to the three principals when they were young. There was Princess Anne, who was to be the last of the Stuarts, a self-conscious, shy girl dependent upon her friendship with pretty Sarah Jennings and her handsome, dashing admirer, John Churchill.

Since the first part of the show was devoted to the Churchill romance and a happy three-cornered friendship, one presumed that the show would move in this direction. Particularly since both John and Sarah came from good but impoverished families.

However, the princess interceded, won an appointment for Churchill and started him on a glorious military career — and the show immediately skipped 28 years.

Then it became the story of the vaulting ambitions of Sarah who since Anne had become queen was considered the most powerful woman in the country.

Then Sarah, overcome with grief at the death of her son, shrilled like a fishwife at the childless queen, now a gouty glutton addicted to speech slurring "medicine." The result was Marlborough's ultimate downfall and exile and the queen's steely refusal to forgive Sarah for the hurt.

Romantics would, probably, have preferred to sympathize and relate to these ancestors of Sir Winston Churchill, but in the play, as enacted by Keith Mitchell and Jean Simmons, both emerged as a pair of aggressive, ambitious opportunists trying to wheedle their way back into royal favor. Claire Bloom's Queen Anne, in spite of physical ugliness and what seemed a chronic drunken speech, came through as the sympathetic, pitiable character.

None of this, from the viewer's position, was very satisfying. The show dragged badly through the first half, but picked up interest when the queen's attitude stiffened and the duke and his duchess were being given a really bad time.

As usual, this special was remarkable for its rich production and lavish sets. But costume drama — and "Hall of Fame" is particularly hung up on it — seems more believable on large movie theatre screens than the small ones of the home television sets.

Court Grants Bond For Mrs. Ruth Estes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court granted bond Wednesday to Mrs. Ruth Estes, 27, who is charged with keeping her two children away from their legal guardians past the time set by the Independence County Chancery Court.

The court granted $2,800 bond pending its review of an order by Chancellor P. S. Cunningham of Walnut Ridge, Ark., directing Mrs. Estes to return the children to the county.

The court directed that all records in the case be filed with it by May 8.

Cunningham gave Mrs. Estes permission to take the children to Puerto Rico for two weeks in August, and they still are in Puerto Rico.

Cunningham ordered Mrs. Estes arrested April 18, and she was put in jail Monday. She contended that Cunningham did not have jurisdiction and she was being held illegally.

Mrs. Estes has obtained a court order in Puerto Rico giving her custody of the children, Terry Lynn Masnar, 8, and Tony Gayle Masnar, 7.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann: That doctor's receptionist who wrote to you isn't very bright. And neither are you. She was mad at the patients who got undressed, then suddenly remembered their meter time had run out. The receptionist thought it was brassy of patients to ask her to run and feed the meter.

The patient was trying to get across the following message: "My appointment was for 3:00 p.m. It is now 4:10 p.m. and the doctor still hasn't seen me. What's wrong with him that he always runs late and ruins everyone's day."

NOW do you get it, Ann Landers? Please print this letter and come up with a solution. I'm sick and tired of being kept waiting by my doctor. Why have an appointment if he sees you whenever he feels like it? —DAY HALF SHOT.

Dear Half Shot: The problem is insoluble. The better the doctor the less apt he is to be on time. Ironically, the qualities that make him run late are the qualities that make him valuable to you. When an emergency patient calls he says, "Yes, come in. I'll take care of you." When a patient needs to talk about his illness (or a problem which may be causing the illness) a good doctor will not shove him out the door because he wants to stick to a schedule.

A competent, compassionate doctor is worth waiting for, so bring a book, prepare to spend the afternoon, and stop beefing.

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter is 17, bright, attractive and out of control. She started to go steady six months ago with a boy who is also 17 but looks 20. I know for certain they are having sexual relations and I live in fear that one day she will tell me she is married or pregnant or both.

I confronted our daughter with the evidence and suggested that for her own good she should stop seeing the boy. She told me if I tried to break them up she would leave home.

Our daughter is college material and we can afford to send her. The boy is likeable but he has no interest in college. It would be a tragedy if she ran off and married him without giving herself a chance to go with others.

My husband is a wreck. He says, "Write to Ann Landers." I cannot sign a name because we are prominent members of the community. Can you help? —DESPERATE.

Leading Young GOP

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Rep. William F. Moore, R-Kansas City, has been named the outstanding young Republican for 1965 to 1967 in a five-state region.

The award was announced by Region VII of the National Federation of Young Republicans, which includes Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and Oklahoma.

The award will be presented at the convention of Missouri Young Republicans in Jefferson City on May 5-6.

Moore is past president of the Jackson County Young Republican Club and is a director of the Missouri Federation of Young Republicans.

appears in the first sentence—"out of control."

My advice is to refrain from threatening, scolding and preaching. Don't talk against the boy. Be pleasant to him, and to her.

She may marry this lad right out of high school, regardless of what you say or do, but please don't push her into it by putting up resistance because she will surely defy you to assert her independence and then all will be lost.

Do you feel ill at ease . . . out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Mrs. David Lee Galloway

Kathy Bealer, David Galloway United In Spring Ceremony

Miss Kathy Ann Bealer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Bealer, Tipton, and Mr. David Lee Galloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Galloway, Knob Noster, were united in marriage at seven o'clock, Saturday evening, April 1 at the First Baptist Church in Tipton.

The Rev. J. D. Cooper pastor, performed the double ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony, traditional wedding selections were played by Mrs. Stanley Palmer, organist. She accompanied Miss Vicki Dueber and Mr. Michael Bealer, brother of the bride, as they sang, "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing," "More" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a white street length gown of slipper satin over which she wore a coat of white bonded lace, designed with an A-line skirt and long tapered sleeves. Her illusion veil was held by a small satin pillbox hat. She carried a bouquet of shasta daisies.

Miss Jackie Price was maid of honor and Miss Kay Price served as bridesmaid. They wore identical street length gowns of yellow satin fashioned with an Empire waistline and scooped neckline. Their short veils were attached to yellow satin pillbox hats and they carried bouquets of yellow daisies.

The bridegroom chose Mr. Dennis Costigan Oak Grove, as best man, and Mr. Vince Thomas, Pennsylvania, as groomsmen. Serving as ushers were Mr. Rickie Bealer and Mr. Russell Bealer, brothers of the bride, Mr. Carl Hibdon, Mr. George Gatschet, Knob Noster, and Mr. William Gravett, Warrensburg.

The mother of the bride chose a deep pink coat and dress of bonded crepe with bone accessories. The groom's mother selected a blue two piece suit with black accessories. Both wore corsages of orchids.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the church annex. The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth over yellow. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Yellow candles and daisies decorated the table.

Mrs. Linda Lindsey, Knob Noster sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Betsy White, St. Louis, served punch and cake to the guests. Miss Jane Schroeder, Syracuse, was in charge of the guest book and Miss Susan Prestage presided at the gift table.

For traveling, the bride chose a navy blue and white suit with black patent accessories. Her corsage was of orchids.

The bride and groom both attended Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg. They are residing in Chicago Ill., where the groom is employed as safety engineer by the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., of Chicago.

Question of Choice

EL CAJON, Calif. (AP) — What, a winter-bare beauty like the liquidambar as official tree?

The choice is that of the Chamber of Commerce and the El Cajon Woman's Club, but the city park and recreation commission rejected it out of hand.

The liquidambar's leaves fall off every winter, noted the commission—hardly symbolic of the mild year-around climate of Southern California.

Marriage Announced

Miss Mary Alene Dittmer, daughter of Mrs. Mabel Dittmer, Sweet Springs, and Mr. Denis Dean Schowengerdt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Schowengerdt, Concordia, were united in marriage on March 18 in the sanctuary of the Presbyterian Church in Sweet Springs.

The Rev. George Farr, pastor, read the double ring ceremony, before an altar adorned with bouquets of white gladioli and blue carnations, lighted by seven branch candelabra holding lighted tapers.

Mrs. Frank Nelson, Sweet Springs, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Mrs. Cedric Meador, Sweet Springs, as she sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Candles were lighted by Mr. Kenneth Dittmer and Mr. Ronald Dittmer, brothers of the bride.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Raymond Hartman, Sweet Springs, the bride chose an Empire styled dress of traditional peau de soie and lace. The lace bodice was accented with a bow in front and long tapered sleeves. A double scalloped lace train completed the gown. She wore a ballerina length veil of bridal illusion held in place by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of American Beauty roses over a white lace fan. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Jennifer Woodrich, Sweet Springs, served as maid of honor. She wore a gown of turquoise velvet, styled with a fitted bodice, short sleeves, and a full floor length skirt. A tiny pillbox hat of turquoise velvet held her matching veil. Her flowers were a bouquet of white gladioli.

Miss Karen Schowengerdt, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Her gown and flowers were identical to that worn by the maid of honor.

Mr. Robert Fuerhing, Concordia, served as best man. Mr. Edward Carrender, Denver, Colo., uncle of the groom was groomsmen. Ushers were Mr. Larry Kanoy, Concordia, and Mr. Tom Newton, Houstonia, cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a navy blue dress with black accessories. A mint green dress with beige accessories was worn by mother of the bridegroom. Both mothers wore corsages of white gladioli. The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Aubra Carrender, wore a navy blue dress and a corsage of pink gladioli.

A reception for 100 guests was held at VFW Hall in Concordia, following the ceremony. A four-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, white doves and rose buds, centered the bride's table. Serving were Miss Becky Brooks, Miss Anita Brooks, Miss Ruth Ann Parker and Miss Linda Carrender, all of Sweet Springs.

Mrs. Douglas Tooker, Kansas City, and Mrs. Tom Newton, Houstonia, were in charge of the guest book.

For a wedding trip, the bride wore a three-piece suit of royal blue dress and a corsage of pink gladioli.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of R-7 School, Sweet Springs, and is employed at Winfrey Motors, Inc., Sweet Springs. The groom, also a 1964 graduate of Concordia High School, is employed at Leeds Chevrolet Plant, Kansas City.

The couple is at home at 103 East Marshall, Sweet Springs.

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Rudi, left fielder, has been optioned to Birmingham of the Southern League for more seasoning, the A's announced Wednesday.

The move cuts the Athletics' roster to 25 players, the limit they had to reach by May 1.

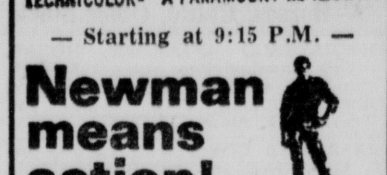

"Rudi is going down there to play first base," said Manager Alvin Dark. "This is his position. Until last year he was a first baseman."

Dark said Rudi's change was for his own development.

"He probably can hit major league pitching now, but he needs to be playing every day. I have no doubt he is going to be a big league first baseman."

Rudi had three hits in 14 times at bat for a .222 average while playing in eight of the first 11 games this year.

Casper Gets Nod As Top Man Today

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Billy Casper got the favorite's nod as the Texas Open Golf Tournament started today.

Casper and a field of 143 other pros, including a number of current champions, will be playing for a $20,000 first-place purse over the par 71, 7,138-yard Pecan Valley Country Club course.

The National Open champion fired a disappointing 72 Wednesday in a pro-am preliminary to the richest — yet Texas Open. The round was played in an intermittent drizzle that slowed the greens.

Close behind Casper in the lineup of favorites are 1966 PGA champ Al Geiberger, World Series of Golf winner Gene Littler and three players now ranked among the top 10 PGA tour money winners — Bert Yancey, Bob Goalby and Frank Beard.

Yancey moved up to sixth in the rankings this week after a $20,000 first-place win in the

Weather Is No Problem For Hurler

NEW YORK (AP) — It might as well have been 80 degrees and balmy instead of 40 and frigid at Yankee Stadium Wednesday for all it bothered Chicago's Gary Peters.

The American League's earned run leader last year, Peters breezed past New York 5-1 with a sharp four-hitter. It wasn't his favorite kind of weather, but it didn't affect his pitching.

"I prefer hot weather," Peters said later. "But I'm not terribly bothered by the cold. Once you get loose, you don't feel it and you don't get as tired in it."

Peters looked pretty hot to the Dallas Open. Goalby, the San Diego Open winner, is ranked ninth and Beard, winner of the Tournament of Champions, is ranked 10th.

Azalea Open winner Randy Glover, and three others in the top 20 money winners are also in the field. The other ranked money winners include Bruce Crampton, Chuck Courtney and Harold Henning, the South African who took top money here last year.

The players will have an extra incentive going for the min the 40th playing of the Texas Open.

There's a standing $6,500 purse waiting for the first pro to break the course's pro record of 65, set by Miller Barber of San Antonio.

The money was put into a trust fund by club officials after Barber fired his record round in 1964 and its now being offered for a better pro card.

Yankees, who didn't manage to hit against him until the fifth inning and scored their only run with two out in the ninth.

"He showed me a slider I haven't seen before," said Elston Howard, who stroked the first hit off Peters after he had retired the first 12 batters he faced.

"My slider was sharp all the way," the White Sox' lefty agreed. "At first, I was getting my curve and slider both over but the curve started giving me trouble around the sixth inning."

Peters said the cold weather helped him because it caused the batters' hands to sting when they hit the ball.

"They don't like it and they tend to lay off the inside stuff because they're afraid of the sting," said Peters. "That helps the pitcher."

The White Sox hopped on Yankee starter Mel Stottlemyre for a run in the first and got four more in the third in a rally started by Peters' single and capped by Tom McCraw's three-run homer.

The Yankees are 6-3 and have lost five straight to Peters in a string that stretches back to September 1965.

"It was cold then too," smiled Peters.

The other four American League games Wednesday were rained out.

In the National League, Cincinnati beat San Francisco 4-2. St. Louis trounced Houston 7-2 and Los Angeles edged Atlanta 2-1. The Philadelphia Phillies at Pittsburgh and New York at Chicago games were rained out.

To Renew Hot Fight For Title

TORONTO (AP) — The torrid battle for the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup championship resumes tonight and the two standouts of Tuesday's overtime battle — goalie Rogatien Vachon and Johnny Bower — will be back at their posts.

Vachon, the Montreal rookie, got beat Tuesday when Bob Pulford scored in the second overtime to give Toronto a 3-2 victory and a 2-1 lead in the best-of-7 series.

However, Vachon made 51 saves, and Toe Blake, coach of the defending champion Canadiens, said Wednesday:

"Vachon will be in goal Thursday night. It wasn't his fault that we lost. If we'd got the goal he'd have been the hero."

Vachon is backed up by veteran netminders Gump Worsley and Charlie Hodge, neither of whom have seen action in the playoffs this year.

Bower was brilliant in Tuesday's game, stopping 60 Montreal shots.

Is It the Grocery Bill Or the Food Bill?

Have you stopped recently and figured the actual cost of your food bill? If you have, chances are you discovered almost one-fourth of what you considered the food bill was actually spent for non-food items.

Non-food sales in the grocery stores totaled over $10 billion in 1964. So, when calculating your family food bill, be fair to the food bill and take into account the money you spent for non-foods.

The variety of non-foods available in grocery stores is increasing rapidly. In fact, non-foods have been growing far more rapidly in grocery store sales than traditional grocery items. In the last 10 years food sales have increased 51 per cent. During the same period, non-food sales increased 140 per cent. This trend is expected to continue for some years to come.

In 1964, food (excluding alcoholic beverages) was 76 per cent of the total grocery store sales. Non-food expenditures totaled 24 per cent of the grocery bill. In 1954, ten years earlier, food represented 87 per cent of total store sales and non-foods 13 per cent.

Household supplies take the largest share of non-food sales. Soaps, detergents, paper products and other household supplies are the items most frequently bought among non-foods. According to recent data, 29 per cent of the non-food sales in 1964 were household supplies, 21 per cent were tobacco and 16 per cent were health and beauty aids.

Retail food stores have become the major outlet for many health and beauty aid items. Fifty-seven per cent of all toothpaste sales, 51 per cent of all aspirin sales and 40 per cent of all shampoo sales were made in grocery stores in 1964.

Hair care sprays and coloring treatments for both men and women were among the biggest gainers in the health and beauty aid departments.

The paper products section also shows big gains. In 1950, a typical store carried 50 items; by 1963, the number of items soared to 145. New rolls, bags and paper towels and plates are some of the items most in demand.

Who are the non-food shoppers? A survey by Purdue University revealed nearly 60 per cent of the shoppers observed had at least one non-food item in their shopping basket. Suburban shoppers, family groups, young adults and weekend shoppers had the highest share of baskets with non-foods. As the shoppers age increased, the share spent for non-foods decreased. Suburban shoppers purchased the most non-foods; city shoppers the least. A man shopping alone spent the highest percentage of money for non-foods because his purchases usually included alcoholic beverages and tobacco products.

Be fair to your food bill. How many dollars of your grocery bill did you actually spend for food?

Take a good look — perhaps you too purchased some non-food items.

Fabrics of the Future

Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service and the USDA have taken a futuristic look into 1980. Clothing specialists forecast we'll be wearing more knit garments of natural and man made fibers; more color, especially in men's clothing; more bonded fabrics and more stretch fabrics.

Researchers say more wearing apparel will be developed with a specific use in mind such as "wash and wear." "Durable press" will be perfected further and it may be practical to perfect seams that are fused rather than sewn.

Temperature-controlled garments adaptable to both cold and hot weather, are expected in the future. More soil-resistant, easily packed, light weight fabrics that are easier to take care of are forecast.

Researchers are presently working on a method of developing a one-step process to making fabrics such as spraying them the thickness desired and thereby eliminating the two step spinning and weaving process now used for fabric making. Further research will be directed toward improving existing fibers, fabrics, and finishes by 1980.

How Many Sheets Make A Washer Load?

One thing which puzzles many consumers is how many double bed sheets should be washed at one time. U. S. Department of Agriculture electrification specialists say it's best not to make a washer load of big items like sheets. A mixture of big and small items is recommended.

It's good practice to wash not more than two double-bed size sheets in one washer load. Some of the newer large-size washers may carry more. Fill out the rest of the load with smaller items which are light in color. This allows space for all items to move freely through the water for good washing action, the experts say.

If clothing and bedding does not wash clean to your satisfaction, try a smaller load and also check to see if your problem is packing too many large items into one washer load.

Don't forget to check your washer instruction book.

Tips Worth Knowing About
Freezing French Fried Onions: Cut large Spanish or Bermuda onions into 1/4 inch slices and separate into rings. Drop rings, a few at a time, and until well moistened, into a batter consisting of 1 1/2 parts of well-beaten whole eggs and nine parts of fresh milk. Drain and evenly coat batter dipped slices with flour. Place coated slices on wire tray and gently shake to remove excess flour. Put them into French-frying basket and deep-fat fry (380 to 400 degrees F.) until golden brown.

How Do You Keep Foods From Going Moldy in the Refrigerator? Maintain proper refrigerator temperatures. Don't keep foods too long — use them up within a few days. Storing foods wet in plastic bags for long periods will promote the development of mold.

How Do You Keep Butter From Going Rancid if It Isn't Used Up In a Hurry? It's easy. Just keep a minimum amount in the refrigerator for daily use. Freeze the rest. The maximum storage time is 6 months.

When and Where Should We Buy In Case Lots? Watch newspaper food ads for case lots sales. While some people seek out wholesalers, it is usually just as easy to buy case lots through your own supermarket.

Cooking Hint: When draining foods on paper towels, place a sheet of waxed paper under the towels. No fat or liquid will soak through.

Topekans Frightened By Tornado

By LEE STONE
Topeka Capital-Journal
For The Associated Press
TOPEKA (AP) — Topekans apparently were more frightened by the tornado of June 8, 1966, than they care to admit, says Dr. Daniel Peak, a Menninger Foundation researcher.

Topekans are not building many storm shelters — an indication, he says, they are trying to forget the tornado ever happened.

Building permits reveal there was only a moderate increase in storm shelter construction here following the tornado. Some officials had expected the tornado to start a shelter-building boom.

Seventeen persons were killed that day when the twister cut through this city, shattering homes and businesses from the southwest city limit, through the business district and on to the northeast city border.

Yet since June 8, only 63 permits to build storm shelters have been issued by the inspector's office.

Records show the biggest surge in shelter-building came in 1959 when almost 160 such havens were built. That boom began in February shortly after a tornado ripped through St. Louis, Mo., killing 18. In 1961, there were 26 shelters constructed, but the average has been between 10 and 15 each year.

Most of the 1961 shelter permits were issued after a tornado shattered Ruskin Heights, a Kansas City, Mo., suburb.

Dr. Peak, emphasizing he was speaking from informal observation, suggested Topekans had had an adequate stimulus to build, but found thinking about tornadoes too unpleasant to allow them to make plans.

"A colleague of mine has been showing movies of the tornado to people and we've noticed that most of those who see it say something like, 'I'd rather not think about the tornado, it's so unpleasant,'" he said.

"I'd say about two out of three feel that way.

"People seem to want to put unpleasant things in the future — to make them as distant as possible — so it won't affect them."

He explained that a distant tornado, since it is easier to think about, might spur more shelter building than one near-by.

The 63 shelters built since June 8 totals four times the usual amount.

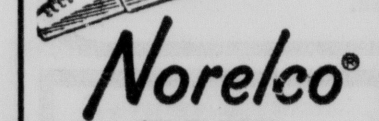

"Most of them are on the west side of town, but the storm path (of June 8) doesn't seem to have anything to do with where they are located," said Ralph Harmon, foreman for a firm building many of the shelters, but note that most new homes are being constructed with basements.

Parking Charge Set

QUEBEC (AP)—The official gazette announced an order-in-council of the Quebec Province Cabinet has set a maximum car parking charge of $3 a day in Montreal for the duration of Expo 65, opening Friday. After a first hour maximum 85 cents, the top fee drops to 35 cents an hour, and the 24-hour total can be no more than $3.

Wedding Is Presented

St. Paul's Lutheran Has Spring Operetta

An operetta, "The Wedding of the Flowers," was presented by St. Paul's Lutheran School Tuesday evening in the school auditorium, with a background of spring symbols, a huge basket of flowers and two nests of baby birds.

The heralds, Sue Foster and Rebecca Morrow, came from the woodland to blow their trumpets and tell of the wedding. Harry Hoover announced each group of flowers as they came from the woodland to the wedding. First the roses in their red and green costumes, Elizabeth Ackerman, Donna Ehlers, Ellen Kroencke, Barbara Gertz, Denise Bergmann, Perianne Barney and Cynthia Heineman.

Then the violets in purple and green, Rebecca Kueck, Karen Anthes, Karen Hoover, Karen Wallen, Janet Steffens, Mary Foster, Karen Mueller and Wanda Monsees. The forget-me-nots in blue and green, Tamara Atkinson, Melody Schreiner, Deborah Davis, Sharon Boyd, Debra Popp, Sheryl Walter, Diane Bergmann and Deanna Zimmerlied.

The sunflowers in yellow and brown, Jim Morrow, Dennis Hall, Earl Rasa, Rodney Jackson, Mark Childs, Jack Rodgers, Terry Smith and Danny Rotermond. The daisies in yellow and white and green, Mark Barklage, Joe Lutjen, James Schroeder, Bill Wagenknecht, Larry Borchers, Frederick Bauer, Kevin Felkner and Mike Albin.

All the costumes were made like the flowers and there were happy little action songs to give the setting for the coming event.

Then came the wedding march, Jack-in-pulpit, the minister, who was Mark Kueck, wore a long-tailed green coat, and black trousers, Lana Ackerman, as the water lily, maid of honor, with a pretty white costume with lily like petals. Timothy Haase, as ring bearer, wore a little black suit and the flower girl, Tena McKnight, in pink, scattered flowers.

Ring the wedding bells were Tamarah Strickert and Debra Mueller, as bluebells. The bridesmaids were tulips, Gail Plantz, Jannette Skidmore, Jane Kroencke, Robin Skidmore, Veronica Trigg, Janice Wheeler, Mary Overstreet and Cam Lutjen. The groomsmen in yellow suits and yellow hats as dandelions were: Michael Kinde, Alan Mehus, Steven White, Danny Gertz, Mitchell Foster, Sam Lutjen, Mike Heuerman and Jeffery McGinnis.

In a miniature bridal gown and veil was Ann Wagenknecht, the bride, Lily-of-the-Valley, and wearing the traditional bridegroom attire was Johnny-jump-up, Ben Harris. As the colorful guests gathered around the wedding ceremony was solemnized.

The wedding was followed by a one act comedy, well done and which brought many laughs from the audience. It was titled: "Run, Robber Run," with the setting in the combination office and reception room of the Caldwell School for Girls. The cast of characters included: Mike Walter as Otto, a robber; Steve Jackson, his not too will-

Hold Out Hope For Both Sides

NEW YORK (AP)—The Johnson administration, accused by farmers of fostering a cheap food policy, took steps this week to ease unrest in the farm belt. At the same time it held out some reassurances to food shoppers.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman raised the price paid dairymen for milk about one-half cent a quart. He said it would eliminate seasonal fluctuations and give farmers more stable prices.

"There is nothing I can see to justify any increase cost to the consumer," Freeman said.

The Labor Department reported food prices last month declined slightly, but less than is usual in March.

It added that wholesale prices had declined further than prices consumers pay in food stores.

Beef prices are down with steaks and roasts featured on specials across the country.

Butter prices dropped 2 cents a pound this week. This still is 2 cents higher than a year ago.

The season's first watermelons and strawberries are reaching the markets.

Fresh produce supplies are limited in the Midwest, which has been plagued by bad weather and transportation problems.

Generally there are good supplies now of potatoes, onions, apples, oranges, grapefruit and watermelons.

Gaps on the Book Shelf

Seniors in 116 high schools around the country were asked by the National Council of Teachers of English to list the 10 books they thought were the most significant they had read. There was nary a "Macbeth" or "Silas Marner" or "Tale of Two Cities" in the bunch.

Instead they chose these: "Lord of the Flies," "Catcher in the Rye," "1984," "To Kill a Mockingbird," "Crime and Punishment," "Gone With the Wind," "The Robe," "Black Like Me," "Cry the Beloved Country" and the Bible.

While all the schools in the study were considered to have outstanding English departments, of the dozen literary works most commonly taught in their courses, only two — "The Scarlet Letter" and "Return of the Native" — were mentioned by any of the students. Some of the schools, however, offer contemporary works on elective reading lists.

But at least half of the books chosen by the students have been banned by some schools and some teachers have been dismissed for teaching them, according to J. N. Hook, professor of English at the University of Illinois, in a preliminary report on the study.

What this study has to say about the quality of English education in American schools, or the fact that most Americans never touch a book once they leave school, we leave to the educators and sociologists to ponder. But it is not surprising that an adult population reared on often insipid 19th-century classics is sometimes bewildered—or worse, frightened—by the ideas and opinions of its 20th-century offspring.

How many parents have read any of the modern books listed by the students, or even bothered to ask their own children what books they have liked?

The Ultimate Acronym

It used to be the three Rs that teachers were concerned with. Now it's the whole alphabet, in the form of such things as PACE, VISTA, CORE, IDEA, HARYOU, etc.

Teachers in Kanawha County, W. Va., are fighting back, reports the National Education Association. Their staff newsletter has suggested one more agency to end all agencies:

Redirected, Unilateral and Multifaceted Plans to Elevate Lower Strata and Timid Individuals and to Liven and Train Scared Kids In Need.

Critics Have Hard Time With Lodge

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The critics of the war in Vietnam took after Gen. William C. Westmoreland for criticizing the critics but they will have a hard time doing the same thing to Henry Cabot Lodge who said the same thing as Westmoreland.

In this memorable week the two top Americans closest to the war for years — Westmoreland, commander of the U.S. forces in Vietnam, and Lodge, retiring U.S. ambassador to Vietnam — summed up their thinking within a day of each other.

Thus this week the war was escalated on two fronts — with words as well as weapons — for the United States intensified it by bombing the MIG bases in North Vietnam and the argument over the war got hotter and more caustic.

Westmoreland, the U.S. military boss in Vietnam since 1964, this week in a New York speech went into detail to justify this country's presence in the war and in doing so answered many arguments of the critics.

In doing so he hit at them, saying the criticism here at home gives the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese an impression of American disunity and encourages them to keep fighting.

One senator and constant critic, George McGovern, D-S.D., resented the general's statement which, although brief, was a stinging attack on the critics.

Advise On Fitness

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Keeping in trim the year 'round shouldn't cost more than a pair of shoe soles, says Dr. Walter Bortz, a physical fitness expert. "Just walk a mile every day," said the director of two major research programs on obesity and metabolic disorders at Lankenau Hospital during an interview.

Guest Editorial

ATLANTA JOURNAL: Science Marches On. — University of Illinois scientists have put together genetic material of a virus in a test tube. Several scientists called the eve a major advance toward understanding the genetic processes that govern the growth and development of all living creatures.

They also said the achievement does not mean that scientists are about to create life from scratch in the laboratory. But to a layman, it certainly appears to be a step in that direction.

So try not to be too surprised if some day you pick up a newspaper and read that some scientist has tossed some ingredients into a test tube, shaken it up or heated it or something and turned to his colleagues to announce:

"That's life, boys."

Canadian Wanderlust

It seems quite logical that Americans should be the world's "travelingest" people. They aren't.

Based on percentage of population, more Canadians than Americans take foreign trips, report travel and tourism authorities. They also spend about $35 per capita on travel, which is more than four times the amount spent by U. S. citizens and higher than any other nationality.

Luring Young Voters, Politicians' Goal

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — Demonstrating their alertness to trends, politicians of both parties have been running around the country and telling everybody that half the U. S. population today is aged 25 years and under.

It happens not to be true. By careful calculation, the U.S. Census Bureau figures that in 1966 the median age was 27.8 years.

So the total take-over of the nation by the young may have to be postponed indefinitely, since the bureau now estimates that, even assuming the highest reasonable birth rates in the years ahead, the median age cannot drop close to 25 years until 1990.

At the moment, the birth rate is, in fact, off considerably from the pace of recent years. Population experts are not ready to say it will stay at existing levels. They think many families might change their minds and have more children later. But the downturn is interesting.

Should the birth rate continue roughly at present diminished levels, the median U.S. age will actually rise a little in the decades ahead. Any further slowing of the rate could lift the median to 30.4 years by 1990, near the highest point in history.

On the other hand, it would take a sizable speedup in the rate to produce any drop at all in the median. And, as observed, a very sharp pickup would be required to get the median down to 25 in the next 23 years.

Yet none of this means the two major parties are not well-advised to be building up their "youth divisions" with an eye to channeling an avalanche of youngsters their way as the latter come of voting age.

The postwar "baby boom" is reality, not conjecture. In 1968, a presidential year, the impact will be felt for the first time with great force.

The Census Bureau says that in 1967, as in 1965 and 1966, 2.8 million Americans turned or will turn 21. Next year, however, the number turning 21 will shoot up to 3.0 million.

Consumer Price Index Shows A New Turn Upward

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Just as evidence developed that more consumers were returning to the marketplace, statistics were released this week showing the Consumer Price Index has begun to climb a little bit faster.

This rising index is like a shadow. Every time the consumer moves it moves too. It now costs $11.50 for goods and services that less than 10 years ago cost $10.

Moreover, while the price tags on consumer goods rose in the past month, some wholesale prices dropped. This has more or less been going on now for close to a year.

This means, in the words of Arthur M. Ross, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor statistics, that lower wholesale prices were being "only partially passed along to the consumer."

The news sounds ominous. And it becomes complicated, too when you hear the farmer say he isn't getting his share, the supermarket complain that its profits are only 2 per cent, and the distributor claim that he also is losing.

Although from time to time the government will discover companies conspiring to keep prices high, there is no over-all plot to defraud the consumer. Several factors must be kept in mind:

1. Even though purchasing power of factory workers is down some from a year ago, the long-term trend is for purchasing power to grow. The dollar is smaller but most people have more of them.

2. "Progress" is contributing to part of the rise. Housewives seem to be willing to pay for better products and packaging. They are demanding new foods. But, lack of progress is contributing also. Any layman on any shopping day sees evidence of waste and inefficiency.

3. The needs and demands of America are changing. The upward pressure on consumer prices is not so much from goods as from services: from medical care especially, and from rents, public transportation costs, loans, haircuts.

4. There may be an inevitable rise inherent in the price index. Not counting the years of the great depression, the index has risen in 38 years and dropped in only five years.

The trend to services, which rely on human skills to a great extent, would seem to assure a rise in the index in the next few years. Many of these skills cannot be automated to lower costs — a haircut for example.

that I think is more important — the fact that our existing industries have been so extremely cooperative. Without their help labor surveys could not have been substantiated, wage rates could not have been checked, industries' attitude toward the community could not have been verified. These people truly have been citizens of Sedalia and Pettis County. And so, congratulations are in order to the people of Sedalia who had faith that the community could put its best foot forward and that the community really had something to offer.

I am particularly proud of the fact that I was invited to head the Industrial Department for the City, and was a little bit apprehensive when I first came to Sedalia. Thus, I informed the Industrial Board and the City Council not to expect too much for the first three or four years.

Because of the changing attitude and the new ideas that have been instituted through this office, with the backing of Sedalia's City Council, I believe people in Sedalia now have a new outlook toward future economic growth and it's gratifying to observe.

I hope you will overlook some of my ramblings-on in this letter, however I believe the people of Sedalia need to give themselves a pat on the back and at the same time pledge to their community that we're ready to pull together to do it again.

Sedalia is on the grow, and as one of your officers in the Sedalia Democrat Company so aptly put it, "What Sedalia makes, makes Sedalia."

There is an old bridge proverb that a peek is worth two finesses. You aren't supposed to peek but you can avoid some guesses about finessing.

East signaled come-on with the seven of clubs at trick one. West continued with the five.

East took his ace and led a third club which South ruffed.

South had lost two tricks and barring some unexpected squeeze situation in diamonds and clubs, there was a sure diamond loser also. This left South with the problem of picking up the queen of trumps if he wanted to make this contract, a result that South greatly desired.

South was a pretty good guesser but he found a way to substitute a sure thing for the guess. At least it would be sure unless one of his high cards was ruffed.

He started by running three rounds of spades and discarding a diamond from dummy. Then he cashed his ace and dummy's king of diamonds and led dummy's fourth club.

When East had to discard on that fourth club, South's worries were over. He led his low diamond and showed his hand.

It made no difference to him which opponent won the diamond trick, or what card was led back. He was down to the ace-jack-ten of trumps-seven and his opponent had to take the finesse for him.

"Remember the good old days when all we did was just sniff glue?"

'Good Old Days' Were A Real Test Of Survival

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Confused and dismayed by the hazards and hurries of now, many a human heart likes on occasion to retreat into yesterday.

Memory throws a glamor over the past, softening its harsh edges and omitting its pitfalls.

"Remember the good old days?" one oldtimer wistfully asks another. And each silently recalls the golden days. Each forgets that yesterday had a tarnish as well as a luster — just as every time in history has had, including now.

What was so terribly, terribly good about those so-called "good old days?"

Looked at honestly, they presented quite an ordeal of survival. The big wonder is that anyone lived to tell the tale.

The good old days were really better for germs than for people. Tuberculosis and pneumonia and the infectious diseases of childhood cut short the journey of life more effectively than heart attacks and cancer do now.

Was life really more sterling in any previous generation? In those good old days when:

• The farm vote controlled the politics of the nation.

• Everything had to be done by hand. Rugs were beaten by hand. Cars and telephones were cranked by hand. Lawns were cut by the power of the two-hand push.

• Kids spent most of their time between November and April scratching the itchiness caused by wearing long woolen underwear.

• If a youngster got caught in even an innocent fib or said a bad word out loud, he was immediately grabbed by the ear and had his mouth washed out with yellow laundry soap. This custom was so prevalent that, if you look closely at any man over 60 today, the odds are that you will find one of his ear lobes is longer than the other.

• Orange juice was never taken for its flavor or vitamin value. It most generally served as a camouflage for the unutterable taste of castor oil.

• There were more mules than motor cars in America, and the roads were built for mules, not wheels — dusty in summer, mud-rutted in spring and autumn, snow-covered in winter.

• Everybody talked about the weather then but did little about it, because air-conditioning was only a dream.

• People seemed to spit indoors.

as often as they did outdoors. Saloons and banks prided themselves on their massive and brightly polished cuspidors. By most desks in most offices there also was a smaller, less gaudy cuspidor, sometimes but not always emplaced on a rubber mat that was put there to catch the errors.

Every working man actually worked as long as executives now claim they work — 60 hours a week was usual. Mothers, of course, put in an 80-hour week, and died earlier than they do today.

Everything cost less, but no matter how cheap it was most Americans didn't have the money to buy it.

The good old days? Nonsense. Today is still the best of all times to live — if for no other reason than that, after all, it is here to be enjoyed.

13 Ships Will Visit Australian Ports

HONOLULU (AP) — The U.S. Pacific fleet is sending 13 ships to visit 11 Australian and New Zealand ports next month during the observance of the 25th anniversary of the battle of Coral Sea.

The guest of honor will be Adm. David L. McDonald, U.S. chief of naval operations. McDonald, accompanied by his wife, will visit seven Australian and three New Zealand cities during the 20-day observance.

Film Maker Walking On 'Thin Ice'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HALCOMB, Kan. (AP) — "I am skating on some very thin ice," said pipe-smoking Richard Brooks as he propped up his feet on the desk of Herbert Clutter.

The film maker was taking a noontime breather from the filming of "In Cold Blood" in the Kansas ranch house where Clutter and his wife and two children were murdered in 1959. It was a brief period of repose for the tense, sometimes explosive Brooks.

He spoke of his problems in filming the Truman Capote book about the real-life murders: "If I try to please Capote, I may offend some of the people here in Kansas. If I try to please them, then I might upset Capote. So the only thing I can do is to please myself."

As a result, he has shown the script to no one, and he does out pages to the actors day by day. He has not even written a finish to the screen play — "I haven't had time; but I do have a fair notion of what will happen."

Brooks admitted that he had felt an undercurrent of opposition among Kansans toward the filming of "In Cold Blood" here. "But I think that has largely been overcome by assuring them we are not wild characters from Hollywood," he remarked.

Brooks was denied the use of the Kansas State Penitentiary where the two killers were hanged in 1965. The prison scenes will be filmed in the Colorado Prison at Canyon City instead.

He was able to secure the use of the actual murder house for the film. One-fifth of the movie takes place inside.

"And we have a quality on film that we could get in no other way," said Brooks. "You see, with the ceilings we can have no overhead lighting. We must light from below, and that gives a very real quality to the scenes."

"But more than that, the important thing is what this house does to the actors. They feel what has happened here; there is a certain eeriness to being within these walls, especially down in the basement (where the father and son were killed). "And when you see the girl riding on the same horse that Nancy Clutter rode, I'm telling you it is pretty damned

Fate Played Heavy Role For Steiger

By JACK MILLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Slender, blond William Steiger sat grinning in the great, high-backed chair of the congressional office.

He looked like one of the working students of Capitol Hill who had sneaked into his boss's inner sanctum after hours to see how it feels to sit in the chair of a member of the United States Congress.

In fact, William Steiger is a member of Congress, a freshman Republican from Oshkosh, Wis., and one of the three youngest members. All are 28.

Steiger, who looks about 22, considers it understandable that people feel some shock when they find out he's a congressman.

When he was elected to the Wisconsin legislature at 22, another legislator mistook him for a page and ordered him to run an errand. Not lacking a sense of humor, Steiger did it.

He recalls with amusement that the legislator later served on a committee of which Steiger was chairman.

Steiger now has six years of legislative experience behind him, and his youthful appearance could hardly be more misleading.

The other two youngest members, Reps. William J. Green, D-Pa., and Donald W. Riegle, Jr., R-Mich., also have enormous experience for their age.

Each of the three already has won a measure of distinction in the House of Representatives, a place where members address each other as distinguished gentlemen and a good many are.

And each of the three, to the dismay of a lot of Capitol Hill secretaries, is married.

Green, already in Congress three years, has risen with unusual speed to the chairmanship of a subcommittee.

Riegle has become the youngest member ever named to the prestige-laden Appropriations Committee.

Steiger has been elected secretary and executive board member of the freshman Republican organization and is a leader among five of them, including Riegle, who have introduced election reform legislation.

How did they rise so soon to the nation's top lawmaking body?

In each career, fate has weighed heavily.

Green's father, former Rep. William J. Green, died in 1963 and the son won the seat.

Steiger had just been graduated from the University of Wisconsin when the state assemblyman of his Oshkosh district resigned. Steiger was elected.

Riegle had just about completed his doctor's degree at Harvard Business School when a Republican leader in his hometown of Flint, Mich., thought of Riegle as a possible candidate.

But all three knew what they wanted. They had dreamed since childhood of running for Congress some day.

Each possesses the perfect image for politicians in the age of television. To a man, they have fresh-scrubbed, all-American handsomeness. And they speak as smoothly and articulately as television correspondents.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Great Plains of west central North America extend almost 1,400 miles from Texas to Alberta, Canada. Width of this vast expanse varies but averages about 400 miles, says The World Almanac. The vegetation of the plains is usually short grass. Unless planted by man, trees occur only along the banks of rivers and streams or in depressions of the land.

New Indian Twist

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Ester Pooley of Gonado, Ariz., beat out 11 competitors for the Miss Indian of Brigham Young University by adding a new twist to Indian tradition. She did the hula.

Consider Asylum

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Three young Hungarian ballerinas who arrived from Budapest recently with passports in order to do the French can-can and Hungarian folk dances in night clubs are being considered for political asylum in Italy. Accepting their applications to stay, police identified them as Sofia Katz, Halina Piec and Eliana Korbowska and sent them to a refugee camp.
